CHIEF MAZZIE HONORED BY THE JOINT COMMITTEE FOR CHILDREN'S HEALTH CARE

The Joint Committee for Children's Health Care in Everett (JCCHCE) recently recognized Chief Steven Mazzie as this year's Unsung Hero at their Annual Business Leaders Breakfast.

Chief Mazzie was carefully selected in recognition of his contributions towards the well-being of Everett's children, families, and community. A large group of attendees joined the JCCHCE this past Thursday at Anthony's in Malden to celebrate the success of the JCCHCE and celebrate the work of Chief Mazzie.

Chief Mazzie has spent most of his career building bridges not only within the community, but within the region to help provide better service delivery, as well as engage in practices and strategies that work. He has placed an emphasis on quality customer service and accountability. Today, the Everett Police Department enjoys a good relationship with its residents, continues to diversify their force, and conducts constant outreach to their newest residents, many of whom are immigrants.

The Joint Committee for Children's Health Care is a non-profit organization that lends its services to those in need of quality and affordable health care. The members of the JCCHCE are dedicated to assist those who are uninsured and disadvantaged. It also provides many services to parents and teens in Everett, such as Parent University, and a community service group. Parents and children of all ages are welcome within the office to participate in the planning and organizing of the workshops and fundraising events.
